EACS Guidelines 2026: What's New in HIV Care and Prevention?

The European AIDS Clinical Society (EACS) will present the 2026 update of the EACS Guidelines at the HIV Glasgow 2026 Congress on Monday, 9 November 2026 (16:40 to 17:50 GMT) in Glasgow, UK. The session, co-chaired by EACS Guidelines Coordinators and Chair, Jasmini Alagaratnam (Chelsea & Westminster Hospital NHS Trust London, UK), Juan Ambrosioni (Hospital Clinic-IDIBAPS Barcelona, Spain) and Jürgen Rockstroh (University of Bonn, Germany), will cover updates on antiretroviral treatment and prevention, co-infections, paediatric HIV and co-morbidities, followed by a panel discussion and Q&A with leading experts.

Version 13.1 of the EACS Guidelines will be available online from Sunday 8 November 2026, bringing the latest updates to clinical recommendations across these key areas of HIV care.

First published in 2005, the EACS Guidelines have become an established reference for evidence-based HIV prevention and care, evolving through successive editions to reflect advances in science and clinical practice. The 2026 update continues this work, supporting healthcare professionals in delivering up-to-date, comprehensive management for people living with and affected by HIV.
