

WAVE Message for International Women's day

Dear WAVE members,

International Women's Day is an important occasion to highlight women's health and to recognise the specific needs of women living with or vulnerable to HIV. WAVE continues to bring attention to these issues by supporting research, sharing expertise and working with clinical and community partners across Europe.

To mark this day, Nina Weis, Chair of WAVE, has written an editorial in HIV Medicine. Her piece outlines current priorities in women's health, including the challenges faced by women who are migrants, the need for clearer guidance on menopause in women with HIV, ongoing gaps in HPV screening, and the importance of improving healthcare experiences for women across Europe. The editorial also reflects on recent work in breastfeeding guidance and continued activities of the WAVE in Ukraine workshop.
